Introduction

Touch is a term used to alter the dates of files and folders. MacAppStuff Touch will alter the creation and last modified date and time of files and folders. It can even process inside folders. Simply add files/folder via the toolbar button or by dragging and dropping them into the list or onto the application icon.

Both files and folders can be added to the list, and you can choose to process them all, just files or just folders.

You can alter both the creation and/or modified dates, specify your own date, or use randomly generated dates. All this is discussed later in this manual under Preferences.

Read the sections below to understand how the application works, and to explore it's features in full.

Commands

Adding files and folders

Simply use the “Add” button on the toolbar to add files/folders to the list, or drag and drop from other applications (such as Finder). You can even drop files/folders onto the application's icon in the dock.

Touch

To touch all the items in the list, click the “Touch” button on the toolbar. You will see a pop-up menu asking whether you want to touch all the items or just the selected ones.

Touching can be stopped by clicking the “Stop” button.

Folder

This button, on the toolbar, will open the folder where the selected item(s) in the list reside. The item(s) are displayed in Finder windows.

Launch

This command launches or opens the selected items. For example, a document will be opened in it's default application, a folder will be displayed in Finder etc.

Removing non-existent items

This is available from the “File” menu or via the pop-up menu accessed by right-clicking on the list. It will remove any files or folders from the list which no longer exist in the location they were added.
